INDEPENDENT PROJECTS

HAND'S TEACHER

Android application programmed in Android Studio. Hand's teacher teaches Mexican sign language (LSM), through lessons with video demonstrations and multiple-choice tests. It also saves statistics and grades in a database linked to the user's google account. Those grades are displayed graphically on the last tab, so that the user can (or not) advance to a later lesson if you have already accurate the previous ones.

PEER MENTOR

School program which helps to first year students for better adaptation. In my own case, I help first year computing technologies engineering students with programming, math and physics problems, and other kinds of adaptation troubles.
